AGREEMENT ON DRAFT SOUGHT BY COMMITTEE

Conferees Vote Against 60-Day Delay Included in House Bill.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 — A joint senate-house conference committee whose members already have voted individually 9 to 2 for immediate conscription, worked today to compromise the differences of the two branches of congress on the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill.

The big differences were:

1—The house-approved provision for a 60-day delay in conscription, pending further trial of voluntary enlistments;

2—The house amendment expanding the affected age limit from the senate-approved bracket of 21 through 30 years to 21 through 44 years.

Leaders insisted that the personal views of the conferees, registered in their previous votes on the measure, would not lessen their efforts to maintain the position taken by their respective houses—a traditional requirement.

Most unbiased observers believed, however, that the final compromise submitted to both houses for ratification would provide for registration of the broader 21-44 age group, with conscription to follow immediately for those selected.

The senate gave what some considered back handed approval of such a compromise yesterday by voting down two motions by Senator Clark (D-Mo.)

Clark sought to instruct the senate conferees to accept the house amendment for a 60-day delay in conscription. The chamber rejected this, 48 to 199.

The senate also refused, on Clark's motion, to instruct its conferees to insist on retention of the 21-30 age limit on registrations. The vote was 44 to 23 against this proposal.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, told reporters, however, that he did not believe these votes were binding on the conferees.

WILLKIE OPPOSES DRAFT DELAY

By The Associated Press

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Sept. 10 — Wendell L. Willkie expressed hope today that senate-house conferees would eliminate from the selective military service bill the Fish amendment postponing conscription for 60 days.

The amendment, approved by the house but not by the senate, would defer operation of the draft while voluntary enlistments were being given a 60-day trial. Then the government could pick men to bring the total of new recruits to 400,000.

Willkie first voiced his approval of military conscription in his acceptance address last month.

The Republican presidential nominee in another statement said he was "enormously gratified" by the Maine election results.

RECENT GOVERNMENT IS PLEA OF BRICKER

Governor Makes Davey Record Campaign Issue.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 10—Gov. Bricker today cast his campaign for reelection this "major issue": decency in government.

"On that point, the record is clear," the Republican candidate asserted last night in the first of a series of weekly radio speeches. "It is a record made during the time both candidates have served as governor of Ohio.

"The record of each candidate, as governor, can not be obscured by name-calling, mud-slinging or other low types of political demagoguery. That is only evidence of the same mental and moral decay that debauched the state government for four years."

Governor Bricker said that the major issue was not a partisan

Methodist Pastors for Marion And Vicinity Named As Conference Ends

DR. E. T. WARING
Ends 34 Years in Ministry

Dr. E. T. Waring Retires; Rev. S. M. Ingmire of Toledo Successor.

Assignment of ministers to Methodist churches in the district including Marion were announced today at the closing session of the Ohio Conference of the Methodist church at Lakeside. The only change affecting a Marion church was assignment of Rev. S. M. Ingmire of Toledo to the pastorate of Epworth church.

Rev. Ingmire will succeed Dr. Edward T. Waring, pastor of the church for the last four years, who is retiring from the ministry because of ill health and advanced age.

Dr. Waring, who is 66, said today he had asked to be relieved of ministerial duties because of ill health and had made the request at the suggestion of his physician. Under rules of the Methodist church, retirement of ministers is optional at 65 and mandatory at the age of 72.

Dr. Waring was seriously ill for several weeks last spring from nervous exhaustion which his physician blamed on overwork.

Two Reassigned Here

Both Rev. Henry Maag, pastor of Prospect Street Methodist church and Rev. Daniel S. Kelly, pastor of Wesley Methodist church, were re-assigned to their present pastorates. Rev. W. H. Kiser, pastor of Asbury church here and also of the Morral church, was also given the same assignment. Others returned to present pastorates were Rev. L. W. Griffith at Prospect, Rev. R. B. Coleman at Upper Sandusky, Rev. J. A. Currier at Waldo, Rev. William Boehnker at LaRue, Rev. Erwin Bailey at Agosta, Rev. W. S. Dibert at Belle Center, Rev. J. M. Gambill at Dunkirk, Rev. Valentine Hainen at First Methodist church at Forest, Rev. C. S. Heininger at Forest Trinity church, Rev. Richard Black at Lafayette and Rev. W. B. Arthur at Alger.

Rev. Dale Limbert was assigned to the Green Camp-Mt. Olive Methodist churches, succeeding Rev. N. M. Rompel. Other assignments are: Rev. Leland Wiley at Middleburg and Claiborne, Rev. J. O. Lehman at New Dover, Rev. Edwin Swinburne at Marysville, Rev. Howard Mumma at Magnetic Springs and Pharisburg, Rev. John Longsworth at Richwood and Central, Rev. John Bretz at Milford Center, Rev. O. S. Oliver at Ridgeway, Rev. D. E. Moffitto at Roundhead and Rev. Robert L. King at West Mansfield.

Other Appointments

Several Methodist ministers who formerly served as pastors of churches in the county have been reassigned to their present posts. Dr. Charles E. Turley, former pastor of Epworth, was reappointed superintendent of the Wilmington district. Rev. W. M. George and Rev. Stanley Wiant, former

MAINE VICTORY CHEERS G. O. P.

Republicans Sweep Election with Majorities Running Up to 70,000.

Maine Republicans won an unbroken series of victories yesterday in all the major contests of the first statewide election of the presidential year, and party leaders promptly hailed the performance as an omen for national success in November.

By pluralities exceeding in most cases those registered in 1936 and 1938, the "down east" Republicans elected a United States senator, a governor and three members of the house of representatives.

On the basis of all but complete returns, Rep. Ralph O. Brewster had a lead of approximately 45,000 votes over former Democratic Governor Louis J. Brann in the senate race. Sumner Sewall, successful gubernatorial candidate, was head by more than 70,000 votes.

Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, withheld formal comment at Rushville, Ind., until he had the final figures, but aids said he was pleased by the results.

Democrats Not Disturbed

The outcome of the voting did not cause Democratic leaders to alter their pre-election insistence that the election had no significance beyond the state's border. They said then that 1936 had effectively disproved the saying: "As Maine goes, so goes the nation."

While the Maine figures were being studied by rival party leaders, Alaska was voting today in a "farthest north" general election, and eight stats were holding primaries which will designate candidates for a total of 5 seats in the senate and 47 in the house of representatives. Gubernatorial nominations also were on the tickets in all except Louisiana.

The states holding primaries today were: Arizona, Colorado, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Vermont and Washington. Georgia will have a primary tomorrow and New Mexico on Saturday.

Arizona had a wideopen race for the designation of Democratic presidential electors, with Willkie Democrats challenging three different sets of electors supporting Roosevelt. Failure of the Democrats to file nominating petitions for electors left the issue to be decided by write-in votes. A victory for the Willkie slate would pledge the electors to cast Arizona's votes for him even though he might not carry the state in November.

Louisiana's balloting carried echoes of the battle which ousted Huey P. Long's political dynasty, with Governor Sam H. Jones appealing for the defeat of the state's entire delegation in the house of representatives. In Minnesota's primary, Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite for 18 years who left his party this summer, was seeking the Republican senatorial nomination in a four-man race.

Another Minnesota contest found Governor Harold E. Stassen, Republican national convention keynoter, seeking renomination, with two opponents.

In Michigan Senator Vandenberg was asking renomination on the Republican ticket.

NAVY CONTRACTS LET

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—Contracts for propelling machinery for 43 submarines, to cost a total of $87,700,000, were announced by the navy department today.

Farm To Be Laid Out Wednesday for Ohio Huskers

Plans to make a survey of the Alexander farm near Morral, where the annual state corn husking contest will be held late next month, were outlined last night at a meeting of committee chairmen at the Chamber of Commerce offices.

The various chairmen, together with Ray T. Kelsey of Cleveland, managing editor of the Ohio Farmer magazine, sponsor of the event, will meet at the farm at 9 a. m. Wednesday. They will survey the grounds and lay out the concessions area and places for equipment displays.

Last night the committee let contracts for three food and refreshment concessions: United grange, two 30-foot tents; Meeker Ladies' Aid society, one 30-foot tent; Ross D. Green of Columbus, four 10-foot tents.

Foster A. Davidson, general committee chairman, presided last night. Calvin W. Baldinger of the general committee also attended. Other committee chairmen and interested persons attending were:

Melvin Kennedy, publicity chairman; Robert White, finance chairman; Milford E. Schmidt, educational chairman; Paul Lawrence, equipment chairman; C. L. Kline, grounds chairman; Eugene B. Willey, health chairman; C. B. Casto, personnel chairman; Homer Porteus, county agricultural extension agent; David Beard, extension agronomist at Ohio State university; J. W. Tingley, Clarldon-Caledonia agriculture instructor; Ray Kelsey of the Ohio Farmer magazine; Louis E. Michel, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and Dr. N. Shrift, county health commissioner.

Various committee chairmen made reports. Mr. Davidson reported on concessions to the absence of Ralph Epley, concessions chairman.

COUNCIL HEARS MODIFIED GAS RATE PROPOSAL

4-Year Contract, 2 Per Cent Rate Boost Given First Reading.

A compromise four-year gas rate, estimated by city officials to represent an increase of about seven cents a month for the average consumer, was proposed by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and given its first reading by city council last night.

Further action on the proposed rates, which would replace those which expired late last month after a five-year period, was delayed until a special council meeting Thursday night at 7:30. The delay was made to give City Solicitor Kenneth A. Robinson time to study the proposal.

Councilman Hayse L. Rogers, chairman of the ordinance and franchise committee, said that as the situation looks now, the new rate ordinance will be recommended for passage by his committee. Several other councilmen, after a conference with C. E. Sechrist, manager of the Gas Co., last night before the council meeting, expressed tentative approval of the ordinance.

Called Compromise Rate

The rate proposed by the company was described frankly by Mr. Rogers as a compromise rate.

It would become effective 30 days after passage by council and would continue for four years. It would remain the same throughout the four-year period.

It is approximately 2 per cent higher than the present rates for the average consumer, but it is a more favorable rate for the city than the one originally proposed by the company, Mr. Rogers said.

The proposed new rates follows:

20 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 500 cubic feet used through each meter each month.

6 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 1,500 cubic feet used through each meter each month.

5½ cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 3,000 cubic feet used through each meter each month.

5 cents per 100 cubic feet for all over 5,000 cubic feet used through each meter each month.

A $1 monthly minimum bill is provided; the same as at present. Also retained is provision for a delayed payment charge of 5 per cent (not less than 10 cents) if the consumer does not pay his bill within 10 days after the bill is issued.

Present Rates

The present gas rates are:

20 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 500 (same as proposed.)

5½ cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 4,500.

5 cents per 100 cubic feet for all gas over 5,000.

Assuming the average domestic consumer uses 4,500 cubic feet of gas a month (54,000 annually), city officials have computed the cost per month as follows:

Present rate $3.20

Proposed rate $3.27½

When the negotiations between the city and Gas Co. started early in July, the city asked continuation of the present rates for five years. The company then proposed continuation of the present rate for three years and increased rates in the fourth year and a further increase in the fifth year.

This was not satisfactory to the city and further negotiations appeared to be getting nowhere until last Friday night. Then the city proposed a five-year rate on

HOBBY WEEK DISPLAYS TO BE JUDGED WEDNESDAY

Placing of hobby exhibits in uptown store windows was completed last night and this morning as the annual Hobby Week sponsored by the Marion Hobby club got under way.

Due to inclement weather and the fact that all the displays were not ready, there was only a small crowd in the uptown district last night but increased interest in the displays was being shown today.

Members of the committee in charge of the exhibits reported the largest number of collections are being displayed this year in the history of Hobby week. Judging is scheduled for tomorrow night.

WYANDOT CO. FARM SECURITY AID KILLED

Fatally Hurt in Collision of Autos Near Wharton.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Sept. 10—Mrs. Veva Batten, 26, Wyandot county home supervisor for the farm security administration since early this year, died at 8:15 last night in Bucyrus City hospital of injuries suffered Monday noon in an automobile collision two miles east of Wharton.

Fred Abbott, 28, of Tiffin, driver of the other car suffered minor injuries.

Mrs. Batten, wife of Forrest Batten of Mt. Gilead, was rushed to Bucyrus City hospital in the Bingman & Co. ambulance. She suffered a fractured pelvis and internal injuries. She did not regain consciousness. The cars driven by Mrs. Batten and Abbott, both of whom were alone, collided at a county road intersection, the former traveling north and Abbott traveling east.

Both were thrown from their cars, but Mrs. Batten was pinned beneath her auto. A passerby stopped to lift the auto from her and drag her to safety. Abbott sustained a gash on his forehead, facial lacerations and head cuts. The Tiffin auto was damaged beyond repair, while Mrs. Batten's auto was not badly damaged.

Surviving with the husband are Mrs. Batten's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Friend Wilson of Summerfield, O.

BRITISH RAID GERMAN AREAS

Berlin and Industrial Areas Targets of Bombers During Night.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Sept. 10 — German raiders, crossing paths with British attackers who bombed the outskirts of Berlin and northern industrial areas of Germany, continued "rolling reprisal" assaults on London during the night, the Nazi high command reported today.

The daily communique said war-essential targets in the British capital again were blasted by bombs of all calibers and admitted the British inflicted "more or less serious damage" on scattered apartment houses in the neighborhood of Berlin and other cities.

In addition to the inland raids, the high command reported British warships under cover of hazy weather stole up to the Germen-held French coast, "almiessly fired several salvos which hit the hinterland without damage," and were repelled by Nazi naval artillery.

Supplementing the London raids other attacks were said to have been carried out yesterday against the English west coast and the Scottish east coast.

Yesterday's air losses were listed as 44 British planes to 21 German.

Submarine Commander Lieut. Capt. Gunther Prien, who was credited with the sinking of the British battleship Royal Oak early in the war in a daring raid on Scapa Flow, was reported to have sunk 40,250 tons of British merchantmen in one recent voyage.

The high command declared another submarine destroyed 15,500 tons of shipping and that a German auxiliary cruiser seized a neutral steamer as a prize in British waters.

Berliners were driven to underground shelters for 42 minutes before dawn as the British raiders visited the metropolitan area, and it was acknowledged that a number of apartment houses on the northern outskirts of the capital had been damaged by high explo-

$25,000 FIRE HITS QUARRY AT RADNOR

650 Gallons of Oil Spread Flames; Plant Destroyed.

DELAWARE, Sept. 10—Fire of undetermined origin razed the Perry limestone quarry plant south of Radnor Sunday, resulting in a loss estimated by Walter Perry, owner, at $25,000.

The blaze, fed by more than 650 gallons of oil stored in the plant, spread quickly and was out of control when the Delaware and Prospect fire departments reached the scene. However, the firemen succeeded in saving several nearby buildings, including the George W. Curtis house west of the plant.

Perry said that machinery in the plant was valued at about $15,000 and that the plant structure itself and supplies accounted for the remainder of the loss. The quarry was recently served by Curious Pilots Fly Over After Three Nights of Fiercest Attacks of War.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 10 — Harried Londoners were sent scurrying to air raid shelters three times today by curious German airmen seeking to determine the damage done in three nights of unprecedented air attacks which have spread devastation into the heart of this British capital.

One flight of reconnaissance bombers was fought off in a quick battle high over the center of the city while sirens wailed just after noon.

The drone of many engines could be heard in the sky during the 25-minute alarm that came just after noon.

In a brief battle over the London area, fought so high observers could not see it, British fighter planes turned away the reconnaissance and bomber planes which had sessioned the alarm. But machine gun and cannon fire were heard in central London.

Firemen at Posts

Thousands of firemen, air raid wardens, and gunners—the front fighters of this war—rushed to their posts after a weary night during which, authoritative quarters said, 150 German bombers dropped some "very heavy" demolition bombs on the center of the city.

In spite of the terrific blasting millions of weary workmen, clerks and business men struggled back to their daily tasks this morning through traffic jams created by necessary rerouting of buses and taxicabs.

A British communique said today the raiders showered the bombs at random "without any distinction of objectives" and abandoning "all pretense" of confining the attacks to military targets.

The bank of London, London bridge, the big law courts, and the financial district all are within a few blocks in the mid-city area shaken by the thunderous explosions.

A member of the staff of St. Paul's cathedral said the big-domed church escaped damage, but "not a window cracked." For a time the cathedral was menaced by bomb-started fires, he reported, but the wind blew the flames the other way.

Firemen Ignore Bombs

Hundreds of firemen were engaged in keeping the flames from bombed warehouses from spreading. They ignored the falling bombs and crashing debris as they battled for eight hours without a break to check the flames.

Outlying sections and densely populated residential districts also were bombed heavily. The communique said no count of the dead and injured in the nine hour and two minute attack was possible immediately, but that 286 were killed and 1,400 injured seriously in the Sunday night attack.

That brought the bombing toll to 592 dead and approximately 2,700 badly hurt, even without the figures for last night when the attack at least approximated the intensity of the previous two raids.

There were attacks, too, outside of London—in northwestern England and rural districts of the southwest in the midlands, Wales and Scotland—but they were overshadowed by the fury of the blows at the capital of empire.

The bombardment finally was broken off just before dawn by a tremendous surprise anti-aircraft barrage which beat back the last of the raiders.

Huge Bombers Used

The 800 to 1,000 pound bombs ferried over by big four-motor German planes were dumped into the center of the city, wrecking some mid-town office buildings and damaging centuries-old landmarks.

One hundred and twenty persons were reported buried in the wreckage of 20 houses shattered in a single district. Rescue crews digging into the rubble by dawn had found only 20 alive. A number of casualties were reported at a maternity hospital.

Although the attack at times reached the intensity of the raids the previous two nights, it appeared to lack the sustained punch which they maintained. The bombing was less steady and

by Jeanne Bowman

YESTERDAY: Constance goes into Pedro's arms, then remembering her bargain with John, explains that if she fails with the farm she loses everything. For the first time she faces the possibility of being defeated by her refractory personnel.

Letters From John

IF PEDERSEN was the adviser, Pedro was the quiet executive. He had laid a colored chart of El Cabrillo before them, showing open fields; degree of slope, drainage, and sections liable to be affected by high water. He had a gangplow ready for delivery and crews appointed. Soy bean, mangel and alfalfa seed stored against advance in prices.

"If you'll authorize the plow purchases and let me hire another, I can have the winter ploughing finished before the rains, then we can give the land another turnover before seeding and spring rains."

Constance remembered Pedersen saying the land must be worked deep this first season. She looked out of the window to the east. Difficult to think of it being winter, but the peak upon which she and Pedro had stopped that memorable day was covered with snow.

"Gentlemen," she said, as they were leaving for a ride to the proposed barn site, "I don't see how I can fail with you around me, each doing your part."

"And you riding herd on us to see we do," teased Peter Taylor, senior.

Constance, who had slipped out to give Pancho an apple, earlier, found her favorite hard to control. He wanted to run. She gave him rein, knowing Pedro was not far behind, and when Pancho was satisfied Pedro rode up.

"Do you mind my saying you look particularly stunning in that outfit, Miss Cabrillo?" asked Pedro.

Constance felt the swift flash of color in her cheeks. Resolutely she looked at him. "Thank you. A Christmas gift from John Raskthorne."

"Raskthorne?" Pedro's voice rasped on the name. "Oh, yes, Juliano showed me his picture one time. Polo game, you standing with him while someone handed him a trophy."

"Constance nodded. "That was taken a long time ago. He hasn't ridden since his father's death. He was thrown, hunting. His mother died from shock."

Pedro stared ahead a moment. "Then it's this John who handles your estate in the east?"

"Yes, he...he's been a very fine friend to the family since his father's death...and before, too, of course."

They rode on in silence, Constance noting the silver sheen of winter grass and the sharp white line above the peaks like a reflection on the sky.

"May I ask if he approved of your decision to take over the ranch?"

Constance looked up, relieved. "Yes, oh, yes, he did....he does. He's very interested. You see, he agrees with me that we Cabrillos must have some kind of an income or we'll, as my brother would say, 'shoot the works in one play.'"

The clop-clop of horses' hoofs measured time, then Pedro rode close, lifted Constance's left hand and stripped off the gauntlet. "No ring, Michael?"

"No ring, Pedro."

"And you're not wearing one on a chain, someplace?"

"Only a heart on a chain, Pedro. The one you gave me...I mean the locket, of course."

Wordless Melody

Pedro's laugh rang out, free and happy. "At that, you have my heart dangling, Michael," he lowered his voice as the others rode up, "do you know how many seconds there are in three years? Three million, sixteen thousand, eight hundred .... That many heartbreaks, Michael, and mine beats double when I'm with you, think of the wear and tear—"

"Then I must stay away from you, Pedro," she retorted, and welcomed the other men so gaily that they turned to look at her again and again.

It was Pedro, however, who stayed away from Constance, though not willingly. The plowing under way, he drove his father south to sell the cattle, and then he was off with Pedersen to buy the dairy herds.

He dropped from her mind to heart, to remain there like a wordless melody and left her thoughts free to write John; long letters full of the details of progress on the ranch.

"—one cow palace is completed, John, and such a palace, as clean and white as a modern mansion; air conditioned; private compartments for each of the bovine blue-bloods. There's even a nursery and maternity ward off the chemists' laboratory.

"Pete Taylor, a nice old grumbler, says we should have dotted swiss curtains with bable-blue tie-backs, but Pederson told him cows doted on dotted swiss and we might find our milk troughs flowing with polka dotted milk, so we refrained."

Judge Franck had convinced John Raskthorne that it would be better to bargain railroad right-of-way than sell it, and one day Constance wrote.

"They're here, the tractors. One with its crew arrived here today to start from the ranch and lay the roadbed north to meet the other started two months ago from Beachport. Next time I turn around I'll hear a whistle, and down from the hills will come flat cars loaded with timber. It's fun, John, watching things grow."

From John came all news of her family. Her mother did write an occasional perfumed note, brief and filled only with warnings:—

"Do look after your hands, dear, they coarsen so when you're riding. I'll send you gloves to wear at night, they have some new medication guaranteed to soften and whiten—"

The gloves never arrived, neither did the eye-wash to be used religiously every rest period. But then, thought Constance, I wouldn't have bothered to use them.

John reported their gradual dropping of servants until only Lamson and the cook remained; reported Don's refusing to borrow on his car to pay for Donna's spring wardrobe.

Spring, thought Constance, looking out at the cold drizzle, splashed against her windows by the wind from the sea. There would be snow in the east.

And then John's letters protested:—

"I believe, if dear were not the accepted opening of a letter, you would never spare a word of affection for me.

"Admitting I am interested in the ranch, I confess that interest secondary. What of yourself? Do you miss having me around? Do you never think of me ... John

"Conchita, I'm wondering why you never mention the younger Taylor. Isn't he around your age? There is something ... ominous ... in the omission."

'Nothing To Mention'

Constance was relieved that she could reply honestly.

"I don't mention the younger Taylor because there is nothing to mention. As far as I know, he's been here at the ranch only two days since New Year's.... and John, he doesn't correspond with me. Now maybe that is the ominous omission. Shall I take it up with him when he returns?"

John's answer came air mail—

"I have a dandy ivory-handled crop that should be used on fresh little girls like you. By all means, correspond with young Taylor, keep track of him, watch him, then you'll know what he is up to."

It was still raining when the letter arrived. Constance had turned one room into an office. She was to be her own bookkeeper. She had spent most of the day making copies of a skeleton form of report. It wasn't a stupid procedure to her, this leaving space for the name of a cow; her age, weight and the amount of milk and percentage of buttercream she was giving.

She had enjoyed the day; enjoyed the beating rain, the dreary sound of trees soughing, and the coziness of fire and red leather chairs, deep and inviting. She'd sent coffee royals to the carpenters and ordered brandy for the herders. Riders from the ranch had carried it to the hills when the round-up was going on. The last round-up.

Now she went to a deep chair, re-read John's letter and was worried. She was being completely honest with neither John nor Pedro. Yet how could she be?

There was really nothing she could tell John, unless she wanted to confess that Pedro was the incarnation of El Cabrillo, fascinating, romantic, and that each moment with him was an intoxicating madness. She couldn't tell that to a man who had invested fifty thousand dollars in her common sense. Especially when nothing would come of it.

And she couldn't tell Pedro he must not think of her because, while she had never promised, John expected her to marry him some day. And in the meantime she had promised to marry no one else.

Exactly what had she promised?

Constance sat rigid in her chair. She had promised John Raskthorne that she would marry no one but him until she had repaid his loan.

She couldn't do that without selling El Cabrillo!

The three-year limitation was only to show profit. If she did, the note would be extended for twenty years, but only if she could meet the interest out of her one-fourth of the net income of the ranch. Terms of the will precluded her taking more for any outside indebtedness. And she could not depend upon the family helping her.

John Raskthorne was giving her a three year moratorium on marriage to him.

The other alternative was sacrifice of El Cabrillo Rancho.

"And I thought I was shrewd," cried Constance.

The room grew dusky with twilight, as Constance sat huddled in the deep chair, thinking. An approaching car threw yellow bars into the room, intensifying the darkness as they disappeared abruptly.

Pedersen home from Beachport, thought Constance.

"Michael!" The door was flung open. Cold, wet, salty air rushed in and with it Pedro. He kicked the door closed with his heel, strode across the room, lifted her from the chair, and laughed down at her. "I'm borrowing ten minutes out of three years hence," he explained. "Or have I been away three years?"

MOOSE LODGE MOVING SOON

Preparing Rooms in Cummin Building; Will Sell Center St. Property.

Plans of Marion Lodge No. 889, Loyal Order of Moose, to move into new quarters later this month were announced today by D. A. Tonguette, governor, and Fred B. Scherff, secretary.

The lodge will occupy the third floor of the Cummin Memorial building at the southeast corner of East Center and State streets and the present Moose home at 228 East Center street will be offered for sale.

Remodeling and redecorating of the new rooms is under way and will be completed in time for opening between Sept. 20 and 25, the officers stated. They reported that the improvements, including installation of steam heat, will cost approximately $12,500. The entire third floor has been leased for a 10-year period from the owner, Mrs. R. E. Westfall of Columbus.

The rooms formerly were occupied by Marion Lodge No. 402, Knights of Pythias, and for several years they also have served as the headquarters of county Democratic organizations.

The Moose officers said the lodge decided several months ago to move from their present home, which has been occupied by the Moose for approximately 20 years, and to offer the property for sale. They cited inadequate facilities and crowded conditions at the home as the reason for the change.

Comprising the suite of rooms in the new quarters will be a large lodge hall, which also will be used as a ballroom, three lounges, a grill room, two recreation rooms and kitchen. The lodge hall and ballroom will be at the front of the building, facing Center street, the recreation rooms at the rear and the other rooms in the center. A new stairway is being built and there will be entrances from both Center and State streets. The remodeling work is in charge of Crock & McPeck, Marion architects.

89 NEW CARS SOLD HERE IN AUGUST

Gain of 15 Over Total for Same Month of 1939.

Sales of new and used passenger automobiles in Marion city and county during August dropped under sales for the previous month largely because prospective buyers have been awaiting the introduction of 1941 models.

Dealers in the city and county sold 89 new passenger cars this month 14 less than the 103 sold in July, but 15 ahead of those sold in the corresponding period last year, according to statistics compiled in the office of the Marion Merchants Bureau at 130 East Center street.

Used car sales totaled 303 for August. That was 10 less than the 313 sold during July but 51 more than the 252 sales credited in the same month a year ago.

Truck sales likewise were slightly under the preceding month. Ten were sold in August, four less than the 14 listed for July, but identical in number to the 10 delivered in August, 1939.

Certificates of title issued in August totaled 1,018, or 114 less than the 1,159 granted in July and 79 more than the 939 listed for the same period last year, according to Miss Alma Fetter, deputy in charge of the title division in the office of Clerk of Courts Carl F Haberman.

Additional Space Required for Race Entries.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Sept. 10—Entries and exhibits are rapidly filling practically all available space at the Wyandot county fair grounds for the 89th annual fair which opened here today. More than 80 race horses were on the grounds Monday and possibly 20 more were expected.

A 40-stall tent is also being erected to house almost twice as many draft horses as were entered last year. All barns will be filled to capacity according to Secretary H. A. Hudson. Club work will be among the features of the exhibits, while a barrow show will be held Wednesday afternoon and a colt show Friday morning.

COUPLE EXCHANGE VOWS AT CHURCH IN GALION

Special to The Star

GALION, Sept 10—First Reformed church, Galion, was the scene Sunday of the marriage of Reva Cook, daughter of Mr and Mrs Irvin L. Cook of Route 3, Bucyrus, and Russell Coulter, son of Mr and Mrs Charles Coulter of west of New Winchester. The single ring ceremony was read by Rev. R. R Elliker at 3 o'clock in the presence of members of the immediate families and a few close friends.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father. Her cousin, Geneva Post of Galion, was maid of honor. The bridegroom was attended by Howard McCracken of near Galion, and ushers were Harold Guinther of Mansfield, and Quay Beck of Crestline.

A program of organ music was played by Miriam Sayre, church organist, and she accompanied Mrs. DeVon Laymon of Cleveland, cousin of the bridegroom, for several numbers.

At the reception held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, there were 80 guests present.

When the couple left on a wedding trip, the new Mrs. Coulter wore a traveling frock of wine color.

A teacher of piano, and well known as a musician in this vicinity, Mrs. Coulter was graduated from the Whetstone high school in 1936. Her husband who was graduated from the same school in 1934, is janitor at the school.

Resident of Near Crestline To Mark 99th Anniversary

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, Sept 10—Thursday Mrs. Christian Schwert will observe her ninety-ninth birthday anniversary. She is the oldest known resident of Sandusky township, and resides with her son William, southeast of Crestline. Until August 17 this year she was remarkably active and assisted with the housework. On that date she suffered a stroke which has affected one leg and kept her bedfast part of the time. She has lived 77 of her 99 years in her present home.

Mrs. Paul Schwert, whose husband is a nephew of the aged woman, will again bake the special birthday cake, which has been her privilege for 21 years.

Mrs Schwert was formerly Miss Catherine Bazer. She came to America from Germany, where she was born Sept. 12, 1841, with her parents at the age of six. The journey was made by sailboat. They landed in Canada, then traveled to Mansfield and finally to West Point near Galion by ox cart, where she lived until her marriage 78 years ago to Christian Schwert, who died 17 years ago. Besides the one son William with whom she resides, two sons and a daughter are deceased.

D. A. V. Pushing Plans for Sale of "Forget-Me-Nots"

Mrs. Esther Koeppen, Mrs. Minnie Bowen, Mrs. Lucille Edington, Mrs. Lois Postle and Mrs. Margaret Morrison are captains for the annual Forget-me-not sale to be held Saturday by the Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

The captains, members of the auxiliary to Marion Chapter No. 22, are busy this week naming team workers and completing plans for the sale. Deputy Sheriff William H. Willis, chapter adjutant, is general chairman.

In discussing the sale Chairman Willis pointed out that the Disabled American Veterans is exclusively a World war organization numbering only veterans with a service connected disability and their aim is to better the conditions of their comrades and their families. "Many veterans," he said, "who bear the scars of battle have been denied compensation due to various factors which enter in the presentation and prosecution of a claim, and it is necessary for the local chapter to assist the families of such veterans financially, and also to help maintain a rehabilitation officer who represents the veteran and presents the claim or appeal for a formal hearing, as the case may be."

Another point stressed by the committee in charge is the fact that no other solicitation is made. The workers offer the flower for a free will offering and all money goes to the local chapter, which in turn pays the veterans who make the flowers, and a fractional part to the work of the office of George Farling, regional rehabilitation service officer for this department. The greater part of the money goes for local relief work.

ARMY TO EXPAND CORPS OF DENTISTS

Force To Be Increased from 500 to 3,000.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10 — Dentists attending the American Dental association's convention here today heard the U. S. army will start Monday expanding its dental corps from 500 to 3,000 officers.

Brig. Gen. Lelgh C. Fairbank, chief of staff of the corps, said the full complement needed in the national defense training program is expected to be reached by next April 1.

The 4,600 officers in the dental reserve corps will be drawn upon first, he reported.

Dentists of military age who do not volunteer will be subject to the draft. These would be privates and would not practice dentistry while serving as such. Applications for commissions would be considered later, however, he explained.

He endorsed these defense committee recommendations:

Sending questionnaires to every registered dentist to assemble data on the profession's ability to serve the country's needs;

Cooperation with the surgeons general of the army to reduce rejections for military service because of dental defects;

Distribution of courses in military dentistry now being prepared by the war department.

HEALTH WORKER TALKS BEFORE GALION ROTARY

Special to The Star

GALION, Sept. 10—The speaker Monday night at the Galion Rotary club meeting was Dr. Martha Koehne, a member of the Ohio state department of health. She is a nutrition expert, having taught five years at the University of Michigan, five years at the University of Washington in Seattle, and two years at the University of Tennessee.

Stressing nutrition, she said that it is far more important for human beings, because of their more complex nervous system to pay attention to proper feeding than it is to feed farm animals properly. She continued that at the beginning of the 18th century the average life expectancy was 25 years, and now it is 52 years. This increase, she said, is due to advances in bacteriology and its application to health problems. She said that pure water, pure milk, and proper sewage disposal alone has made phenomenal changes in public health conditions in the past 100 years.

Ragged Army of Refugees Leaves London To Seek Safety Elsewhere

By DREW MIDDLETON
A.P. War Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 10—A bedraggled caravan of the old, the weak and infirm, the homeless and the shaken such as many which have marched across the face of Europe from Warsaw to Brest in the last 12 months came struggling out of London's East End toward the countryside and safety today.

I stood on a street in the East End and watched the refugees pass. It was heart-breaking, similar to sights I saw in Belgium and France last May and June.

There was a mother, her face controlled by fear of the past and of the future, carrying her baby. Families walked slowly along, toting bulging suitcases.

One woman herded three children in front of her. They did not want to leave. Kids seldom do. I asked her where she was going.

"I'm going hop-picking, same as I should have done if my old man hadn't said Kent wasn't safe." She looked behind her at a section pocked with craters, marked by scores of houses shattered by bombs.

Safety Is Mockery

"Safe," she said, "don't make me larf."

One group in an upholsterer's truck said they were going to the country "where it's quiet and maybe we can sort of collect ourselves a mite." They had little baggage. It was buried under wreckage back there.

Public assistance officers have worked themselves groggy since Saturday evening. In one London county council center, 500 refugees have been fed, given beds and first aid.

Fifty more stood in line for bread, butter and tea in a dreary room of another district. They just shuffled along and silently ate their handouts.

Some women wore light coats over nightgowns. Men wore odds and ends. One had nothing but long woolen underwear and a pair of ragged pants. His feet were bare.

Their faces were blank. The magnitude of the catastrophe which had struck them dulled their minds to all else.

Nerves Can't Stand It

Any one who is bombed for five minutes, let alone 19 hours out of 45, is scared and shaken, especially if there is little sleep and only "pick-up" meals.

Shelters are not the answer. Shelters can't shut out the whistle of falling bombs, the drone of big bombers, a tremendous nervous strain.

To these folk, each explosion may mean the end of everything they hold dear, home, clothes, furniture. The government's promise of compensation does not mean much to them now.

It is the story of Belgium and France again. Leaving familiar sights and sounds is the hardest wrench of all.

They want things they know. Each sad-eyed woman looks back on the ruins of the home which was dear to her. She wants the painted seashell she bought one bank holiday at Brighton. She wants the picture of Charlie and Lil when they were married. She wants her familiar teapots, sofas and pictures.

No government can give those back.

SCOUT DINNER SET

Mothers of members of Troop No. 3, Boy Scouts of Epworth Methodist church, met with the boys last night at the church to plan for a dinner Oct. 4 at the church. Proceeds will be used by the scouts to finance a trip to Greenfield Village and through the Ford plant in November. Plans were made for a court of honor to be held in the near future. Meeting nights were changed from Tuesday to Monday nights. The next meeting will be Sept. 16.

$72,000,000.00 Tax Reduction Under Governor Martin L. Davey

Did Governor Bricker give you any tax reductions? Not one dollar. Instead of this, he forced heavy, new burdens on the local taxpayers throughout Ohio.

Martin L. Davey

BUT Governor Martin L. Davey did give you immense tax reductions. He conducted the affairs of Ohio's State government without one dollar of new taxes of any kind. In fact, "No new taxes" was his slogan.

Davey brought about the repeal of the sales tax on food, and saved the people of Ohio $12,000,000.00 a year from November 4, 1936, on forever.

With the help of the Legislature, he reduced automobile license fees $2,000,000.00 per year, and farmers' truck fees $1,000,000.00 per year. In adition to this, he gave free use of automobile tags for three months from January 1, to April 1, when the law was first amended.

The admissions tax (on theater tickets, etc) was reduced from ten per cent to three per cent. The intangibles tax was reduced from six per cent to five per cent. There were several other tax reductions and exemptions.

The net result was a reduction in your taxes, under the Davey administration, of $40,000,000.00 from 1935 to 1938, inclusive. Davey left $40,000,000.00 in your pockets.

Better still, these tax reductions still continue. Davey's tax reductions left in your pockets more than $16,000,000.00 in 1939, and will leave another $16,000,000.00 in your pockets in 1940.

From 1935 to the end of 1940, Davey's tax reductions will amount to over $72,000,000.00. This is more than ten dollars apiece for every man, woman and child in Ohio.

Governor Davey vetoed over $15,000,000.00 in unnecessary appropriations. This is two and one-half times as much as the net vetoes of all the other governors of Ohio combined. He saved you over $15,000,000.00 through wise and determined use of the veto axe.

Nevertheless, Davey did not neglect any of the legal or moral obligations of the State. He provided tens of millions of dollars for relief, tens of millions more for old age pensions, many tens of millions for schools, and millions more for social security, rehabilitation of State institutions, and many other new and necessary requirements.

He handled State finances as a business man, made an intimate study of State finances, carried out a program of no new taxes, balanced his budget every year, met all the State financial obligations, and still brought about tax reductions of such huge amounts that it challenges comparison with every other state in the Union, while he was Governor.

As far as can be found from the records, Martin L. Davey is the only Governor in the History of Ohio who brought about tax reductions.

The ceremony was read by Rev. Harry Eswine, pastor.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Edith Fairfax's Threat of Suicide and Her Request To See Dicky — Alone! Bring Fear for Dicky's Safety

"THE LORD knows she has enough to confess," Lillian said caustically.

"You never said a truer word," Katherine added. "Dicky will have his ears filled if she spills everything."

The impact of a sudden frightening thought set my pulses pounding and I put out my hand with a groping bewildered movement.

"Do you suppose," I faltered, "that the suicidal impulses Miss Whitlock is watching might include?—"

My voice trailed off into terrified silence, and I saw Lillian and Katherine flash corresponding and compassionate glances at each other. Then, and I knew it had been silently arranged between them, Lillian took up the challenge.

"Might include trying to yank the Dicky-bird along with her to the Never-never land?" she asked roughly. "She might, at that, but what does it matter as long as she hasn't the well-known ghost of a chance to pull off anything like that?"

A Comforting Analysis

"You're sure?" I persisted, and Lillian settled herself to argument.

"Just look at the chances for and against her being able to harm him," she said; and began to emphasize her points upon the palm of one hand with the tapping forefinger of the other.

"Firstly," she said. "Ede's weak and emaciated.

"Secondly: Miss Whitlock undoubtedly has gone over her and the room with a fine tooth comb, so she hasn't any lethal weapon handy.

"Thirdly, Dicky is unusually quick and strong, able to cope with a dangerous masculine maniac if he had to, and surely in no danger from Ede."

She paused and looked at me searchingly.

"I haven't convinced you," she said ruefully.

"My reason, yes," I said quickly. "And you have comforted me a lot."

"That's so much to the good," she said, and Katherine spoke quickly and with emphasis.

"There's one thing that's going to be settled right now," she said sternly, and there was a flash of comprehension in Lillian's eyes.

"I know, and I'm with you," she said, and Katherine went on.

"I grant you everything Lil's said, about Ede's weakness and the fine tooth comb, and, of course, Dicky doesn't run the slightest risk even if he sees her and hears her 'confession'—whatever it is—alone, as Ede no doubt will ask. A word of caution to him to watch out for her will be all that's needed. But I'm raring up on my hind feet right now to declare that if Ede has any yen to see you alone for confession, or anything else, she'll have to keep right on yearning. You're not going to see her alone."

She paused for breath on the ultimatum, then went swiftly on again.

"You may have Dicky with you," she conceded, "or Miss Whitlock or Lil, or me, no use letting anybody else in on it—but you don't see her unless a third person is right beside you. Women in her nervous condition develop surprising strength sometimes, and while Dicky would be able to handle her easily, you might not, and you're not going to take the chance."

"Second the motion firmly and vigorously," Lillian chimed in. "D'ya hear us?" She turned on me threateningly.

"I couldn't very well help it," I returned with a faint smile, for their strenuous championship heartened me as it always does. Never did woman have more faithful friends than these two, who have so often aided me with such loving loyalty. "And I'll try to be reasonable."

LOAN BILL FACING FIGHT IN SENATE

Latin American Aid Opposed by Taft.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—Administration leaders strove to win senate approval today for the $500,000,000 Latin-American loan bill advocated by President Roosevelt, but first they faced the task of beating down the efforts of opponents to limit its scope.

As presented by Senator Wagner, Democrat of New York, who termed it "an essential element in our program of total defense," the bill would increase the lending powers of the export-import bank for a three-fold purpose. Wagner outlined the aims yesterday as follows:

1. "To expand our opportunities in Latin-American trade."

2. "To develope in this hemisphere all the materials necessary for our mutual security."

3. "To aid in the orderly marketing of Latin-American surpluses."

Senator Taft, Republican of Ohio, leader of the opposition forces, submitted an amendment, however, which would eliminate action on the first and third points and restrict any loans to undertakings which would "assist in the development of the resources of the western hemisphere," such as developing South American production of tin and rubber.

In the event his amendment were adopted, Taft expressed the view that the amount of the bank's increased capitalization might well be reduced to $200,000,000 instead of the $500,000,000 proposed.

Taft asserted that loans to assist Latin-American nations in the orderly marketing of their surplus products, would be "a new departure" in the bank's policy. President Roosevelt advocated such assistance in a message to congress on July 22 as a means of combatting the war time disruption of trade.

Replying to Taft, Wagner declared that "if we refuse this reasonable measure of limited aid, we are undermining not only our own economy but also our national security."

WALLACE SPEAKS IN NEBRASKA DROUTH AREA

By The Associated Press

HASTINGS, Neb., Sept. 10—Henry A. Wallace, Democratic nominee for vice president, carrying his campaign today in a part of drouth-scarred Nebraska, urged his farm audiences to vote for candidates who will support the administration's agricultural program.

"No power on earth can fully make up to you the damage wrought by heat and drouth," he declared, "but a friendly administration can go a long way in providing crop insurance.

"This we have done through the triple-A and the wheat crop insurance program. Triple-A payments do not vary with the weather, and in a bad crop year you get paid as much as in a good crop year. In a bad crop year, in your most sorely stricken counties, the triple-A payments will be almost equal or even exceed the cash value of the crop."

DICK CHAPMAN LEADS IN NATIONAL AMATEUR

By The Associated Press

MAMARONECK, N. Y., Sept. 10—Dick Chapman of the home club lopped three strikes off the Winged Foot Golf club par with a brilliant 69 today to take the lead in the 36-hole qualifying test of the national amateur golf championship with a total of 140.

After straying off line only once on the first nine, where he had a two-under-par 34, Chapman had to do some handsome scrambling ot come back in 35. He canned a 35-footer for a birdie 3 at the 11th, but had to come out of the rough on the 14th and 15th and out of traps on the 15th, 16th and 17th to save his pars.

With about one-fourth of the field in, Chapman had a six-stroke lead on Frank Strafaci, former U. S. public links champion from Brooklyn, who improved from a first-round 76 to a sub-par 71.

Sheriff Cullenen, expressing belief the two were amateurs because of the excessive amount of nitroglycerin used, said blood was found near the Hagel general store, scene of the slaying and robbery.

CLEARING PLANT SITE

Workmen Prepare Ground for Isaly Building.

Removal of two dwellings at the East Center street site where the new Isaly Dairy Co. plant will be erected has been under way for the last week. Workmen are razing the Guthery and Allen homes in preparation for construction work which is expected to begin late this month.

Construction plans call for erection of a two-story building to be located at 365-373 East Center street. Contracts for the work will be awarded later this month. One of the residences acquired at the location, the Hane homestead, will not be removed. It will be altered slightly and used as headquarters for the sign painting department.

Hitler's Strategy Becomes Clear in London Raids

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

It is now clear that the Hitlerian strategy of the moment is to try to smash British morale by pouring terror over London.

Last night the Nazi raiders carried death and destruction to the very heart of the metropolis. They spewed bombs over residential areas and world famous buildings.

A British communique charges that "the enemy has now thrown off all pretense of confining himself to military targets."

The trend of the conflict will depend in no small degree on how well the stout-hearted cockney and his broad-beamed wife, whom he affectionately calls his "Old Dutch," can stand the hell to which they are being subjected.

This morning finds morale apparently intact. I think the yardstick by which we may measure the position is the fact that a fierce British anti-aircraft barrage this morning threw back the German raiders. And that during the night the royal air force again plastered Berlin, among other German objectives.

The Weather Question

A reader has asked me to reconcile recent bombing developments with the prediction by expert observers generally that the bad weather which will arrive shortly may be expected to give England a respite. Special reference is made to a British official admission that the German raiders over London Sunday night benefitted by the heavy clouds and rain.

First off, there rarely will be a time, even in the worst weather, when some bombers won't be able to get over the capital by instrument-flying and dump their cargoes of bombs blindly.

Such bombing would be wholly indiscriminate. It would do damage, to be sure, and it might kill a lot of people, but the chances of military objectives being destroyed would be small. In short, it would contribute little to victory in the battle of Britain—unless it served to crack civilian morale.

As for the rest of England, the fall and winter weather should provide real relief. You must know that Britain is a law unto itself when it comes to dirty weather. Day after day the land will be shrouded with fogs and mists which start from the ground and reach up, thereby making an impenetrable blanket.

Bad Weather Tactics

Well, the best a bomber can do under such circumstances is to get above the fog, steer by instrument until he is over some large target like a city and then shoot blindly. True, there will be times when the Nazi airmen will find more favorable conditions, but those may easily be the great exception. On the whole, England expects to get real relief from the fogs and mists which last from about October to March, inclusive. Destruction of industries and other military objectives should fall off heavily.

It is to prevent the British from getting a respite, and to save himself from being strangled by the blockade, that Herr Hitler is straining for a quick decision this month. Should the war go into the winter, England probably not only could repair damage done by the present aerial onslaught, but would be able to pile up great reserves from abroad, mainly from the United States.

That might enable the British to assume the offensive which they plan for next year.

PASTORS

pastors of Wesley church, have been re-assigned to the churches at Nelsonville and Logan, respectively. Rev. L. J. Poe, former Agosta pastor, was returned to Georgetown and Rev. E. R. Rector, former pastor of the Green Camp and Prospect churches, was re-assigned to the Jeffersonville church.

In announcing plans for his retirement today, Dr. Waring said that he and Mrs. Waring plan to make their home in Portsmouth where they have a number of relatives. They recently purchased a home in Portsmouth and will leave Marion Thursday, he said.

Officers of the Epworth church said they have not been informed when Rev. Ingmire plans to take over his new work here but that he probably will be in charge of services next Sunday. A spokesman for the church officers said today that they were "very well pleased" with the work done by Dr. Waring during his four years as pastor and they pointed out that during that time the church not only enjoyed a substantial increase in membership but that the church debt was reduced from $6,000 to $500 during the period.

In Ministry 34 Years

Dr. Waring is rounding out 34 years in the ministry. After studying law and being admitted to the Kentucky bar, he turned to the ministry and received his theology degree from Boston university. For two years he served as student pastor at a small church near Boston and after receiving his degree came to Ohio. His first charge was at Lewisburg and later he was pastor for five years at Cleves, O., six years at South Charleston, five years at Troy, six years at Cincinnati Mt. Auburn church. He was pastor of Broadway church at Toledo for five years before coming to Marion in 1936.

As pastor of Epworth he has been minister of the eighth largest church in the Methodist denomination, the church having an active membership of more than 2,500. It has been estimated that the church and Sunday school memberships represent approximately 1,500 families.

Rev. Ingmire for the last two years has been pastor of Epworth church in Toledo and before that spent four years at Newark and four years at Bowling Green. He entered the ministry in 1922.

In discussing his plans to retire, Dr. Waring said he wished to express his deep regard for everyone in Marion.

"Nowhere in my experience as a minister have I found such a fine spirit of cooperation between churches as I have found in Marion and I have enjoyed it thoroughly. Mrs. Waring and I are greatly appreciative of the cooperation and kindness that has been tendered us."

REV. BIGELOW SUBMITS $40 PENSION PETITIONS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 10—Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, Cincinnati preacher-politician, today submitted to the secretary of state for approval as to form a petition to initiate a state law guaranteeing old age pensioners a minimum income of $40 a month.

For presentation of the bill to the legislature, the petitions would require 72,387 signatures and must be filed at least 10 days before the general assembly convenes in January.

Should the legislature fail to enact the proposed law or amend it substantially, Bigelow could refer it to referendum by obtaining approximately the same number of additional signatures.

tal in Cleveland and then worked as surgical nurse in the Cleveland clinic and at the Pasadena, Calif., hospital. She later returned to Cleveland and entered the public health field as a visiting nurse after which she came to Marion as Red Cross supervising nurse from 1931 to 1934.

After her first three years in Marion, she returned to Cleveland for further nursing work and also further training at Western Reserve university's school of nursing. She holds a bachelor of science degree and a certificate in public health nursing from Western Reserve.

Following this further training at Cleveland, Miss Breneman came to Marion in 1936 as supervisor for Marion and Crawford counties. She also had charge of instruction of post-graduate student nurses who were assigned to the two counties by Western Reserve and the University of Michigan for actual field training in public health.

Served Nearby Counties

For the last year Miss Breneman also served as supervisor of nurses in Hardin, Wyandot and Seneca counties. However these counties are not associated with the student nurse program.

Miss Breneman is a former president of District No. 7 of the Ohio State Nurses' association.

Her home in Marion is at 544 Courtland avenue.

LEGIONNAIRES URGED TO ATTEND RED RALLY

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Sept. 10—American Legionnaires here had advice from the head of Akron's board of education today to attend a Communist party rally tomorrow night rather than press protests against it.

James W. Ford, Communist candidate for vice president, is scheduled to speak at Perkins school auditorium.

Legion Post No. 19 asked the board to revoke the permit for use of the school building.

Board Chairman Clarence Foust told the Legionnaires as long as the Communists "do not do something criminal" they could not be refused the use of the building for public meetings.

He advised they "could accomplish more good by going right into the meeting to see that no criminal acts are committed."

METHODISTS OPPOSE CONSCRIPTION BILL

By The Associated Press

LAKESIDE, O., Sept. 10—Enactment of the pending conscription bill would be a "tragic defeat for democracy," the Ohio conference of the Methodist church asserted today in a report made public upon adjournment.

It also "reaffirmed the obligation of the church to give advice and protection to conscientious objectors."

"We protest the adoption of the conscription bill because it puts dictatorial control over millions of American citizens in the hands of the President," the conference said. LONDON early indications were that fewer big fires were started and fewer bombs were dropped.

Even after the all clear signal brought weary Londoners out of their shelters, the battle of Britain went on with a thunderous cross-channel duel of destruction by long range guns resuming the shelling started the night before.

The third of the big night raids on London followed the same pattern adopted by the Nazi attackers since they switched from daylight bombings and concentrated on the British capital.

A few planes led the way, dropping incendiary bombs. The rest followed, their racks loaded with powerful explosives, guided in the darkness and smoke by the glare of the fires.

Fleet Street Hit

Five tremendous explosions were heard in the Fleet street section, center for London newspaper offices.

A children's hospital was hit. Fires broke out in the northwest. One roaring salvo of bombs hurled debris of South London buildings high into the air. Bombs dropped on sanctuaries for the aged. Two hospitals were hit in central London.

"Thirty mothers and 20 babies had a narrow escape when bombs fell around a maternity hospital. All the patients were moved from the building within 15 minutes after a call for help was sounded.

"Fathers who later came to the hospital as quickly as they could on receiving the news were in fact far more upset than the women," said a rescue worker.

The rescuers scattered fire after fire, but the firemen worked without a letup to localize the flames. From a city roof-top the reflected glow of the flames could be seen in all directions. The crackle from the nearby fires mingled with the drone of bombers.

Rescue squads dug frantically into the ruins of a house hit by high explosive in the southeast London district after a number of persons were reported trapped.

Several persons were feared killed in a northeast district when high explosive reduced six or seven houses to debris.

A bomb tore through three floors to the terrace of a building in central London. At another point a bomb hit the roadway, killing a man and a woman.

one, because leaders in the Democratic party have assailed the administration of former Gov. Davey, his Democratic opponent.

He quoted former Gov. James M. Cox, Dayton publisher and Democratic presidential nominee in 1920, as saying that Davey's administration "for downright corruption and for cynical disregard for the decencies of politics and government, has never been surpassed in this state."

Bricker told his listeners that "you and I are engaged in a crusade to keep demagoguery, buffoonery and chicanery out of our state government."

"You know what the government of Ohio is today," he said. "Do you remember what the government of Ohio was under the preceding administration?"

The governor said that, "having cleaned up the mess which we inherited," he was confident the voters would reelect him to continue a program of "constructive public service."

11 RUMANIAN GENERALS DISMISSED BY PREMIER

By The Associated Press

BUCHAREST, Sept. 10 — Dismissal of 11 Rumanian generals, held partly responsible for Rumania's recent loss of territory was announced today as Gen. Ion Antonescu, military dictator, continued his investigation of former King Carol's regime.

The decree dismissing the men, who included George Argesanu, a former premier, and Ion Ilcuiu, former war minister, said they practiced political activity contray to the good of the state and used "flattery to gain high office."

How badly Carol himself fared when he abdicated last week was still a matter of conjecture. The king left a vast "personal empire" under the shadow of expropriation when he went into exile, but he had shrewdly converted many of his ancestral holdings into cash long ago, informed sources said.

Whether he carried any of this cash with him in his flight was not known.

Dr. Arthur I. Brown, Canadian evangelist, last night continued a series of sermons on the Book of Revelation at the annual conference of the Young People's Fellowship Club of Central Ohio at Chautauqua pavilion. His subject was "Earth's Thousand Years Age of Glory."

Describing the "age of glory," Dr. Brown said in part:

"There will be many changes in the earth. The curse on vegetation will be removed and all weeds eradicated, wild animals will be tame, the climate of the world will be uniformly mild and human longevity will be greatly increased so that people will live right through the entire period. Death will be very infrequent and sickness and disease will be eradicated. It is the Kingdom of Christ in reality, with Him appearing in Person at Jerusalem, at frequent intervals, and with King David as Prince established there. It is an iron-clad rule of righteousness by the manifested might of Jesus Christ."

Tonight Dr. Brown will speak on the subject, "The Tragedy of the Church."

LONDON REPORTS ON GERMAN RAIDS

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 10 — British fliers bombed Berlin, Bremen and Hamburg shipyards, docks at the Kiel naval base and Wilhelmshaven last night, and factories at Essen and Barnstorf, Germany, the air ministry said today.

The heavy bombers also attacked shipping and barge concentrations in the channel ports of Ostend, Calais and Boulogne, and the German artillery emplacements at Cap Gris Nez, France, from which Nazi guns have been throwing shells at the Dover area, the ministry declared.

Attacks were likewise made on freight yards at Krefeld and Brussels and on several airdromes.

WAITRESS IN QUANDARY OVER FORD'S $46 "TIP"

FT. WAYNE, Ind., Sept. 10—Pretty Ethel Gaff, 19, waitress in a downtown hotel dining room, wondered today whether Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer, meant to give her a $46 tip—or just forgot his change.

Ford and his party of seven stopped there to eat yesterday on their way back to Detroit from Rushville, Ind., where he talked with Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee. The check was $4. They handed the waitress $50 and left.

Earlier, Ford pinned a Willkie button on a reporter's coat and said: "Wear it and I'll wear another just like it."

The hotel management said Ford would be asked by letter whether he intended for the waitress to keep the change.

Epworth and Shovel To Play Today in Little World Series Opener

First Game To Start at 5:45 P. M. at Lincoln Park; Greenwood Is No. 2 Loop Champ.

Epworth and Marion Steam Shovel, Sunday School No. 1 and Commercial league champions, respectively, will open Marion's eighteenth annual "Little World Series" at 5:45 o'clock tonight at Lincoln park. Pairings for the series, which is open to the pennant winning teams of four city softball leagues, Sunday School Nos. 1 and 2, Industrial and Commercial, were made last night at a meeting of the softball commission.

Greenwood earned the right to represent Sunday School No. 2 league in the series by blanking St. Mary, 6-0, last night at Lincoln park in a playoff. The two teams were tied for the top spot of the church league with 11 wins and three losses when Greenwood was given a loss by the softball commission for not playing a scheduled game last week.

Four-Hit Pitching

Woodrow Walters, Greenwood speedball merchant, eased the way for his team's victory last night as he turned in a four-hit performance. The title-winning Greenwood team clubbed Caprino and Berens for nine base blows as these two star Irish hurlers took turns on the mound.

Greenwood will tee off against Keytown, Industrial loop flag winner, in tomorrow's scheduled contest and Friday night the losers of tonight's and tomorrow's games will square off. A team must be defeated twice before it is eliminated from the series.

Monday, Wednesday and Friday have been set for games next week. Barring a tie or rained out games the finals should be played a week from Friday.

Preliminary Games

An added attraction has been slated for the night of the finals. The winner and runnerup in the Y. M. C. A. Grade school league, North Main and St. Mary, will tangle in a preliminary game at 4:45 p. m.

All series games will start at 5:45 p. m.

Proceeds of the series will be used to pay expenses incurred by the city softball commission throughout the summer season. What is left when these expenses have been paid will be added to the fund for the erection of the new fence at Lincoln Park.

Umpires for the series will be Williams, Rice, Taylor, Schults and Smallwood.

Scores by innings and batteries of last night's game follow:

HALF-GAME BEHIND TRIBE OPENS SERIES WITH TORRID YANKS

American Loop Race Chokes Up as Indians Lose to White Sox 2-1.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10—The torrid American league race is wound up like a seven-day clock but those amazing New York Yankees hope to do something about it at the Cleveland Indians' expense today.

The bombers were set to face Bob Feller, pitching ace of the fading Tribesmen, in the opener of a two-game series.

Twenty-four victories in 30 starts have sounded the alarm to their rivals that the Yanks are driving for their fifth straight flag. They are only a game to the rear of the Detroit Tigers and a half game behind the Indians.

Bonham To Hurl

Ernie Bonham, rookie right-hander who has reeled off four straight triumps for the Yanks, was slated to make his first start today against the Indians.

The impotent Tribesmen obtained only four hits off the southpaw slants of their old teammate, Thornton Lee, yesterday as the White Sox won, 2 to 1. The result knocked the Indians out of first place after four weeks and represented Cleveland's seventh setback in eight times out.

Lee ganged up with two former Indians, second baseman Jimmy Webb and outfielder Julius Solters. Solters contributed one of three singles in a fourth-inning outburst off pitcher Harry Eisenstat. Webb scored the winning tally in the seventh on Mike Kreevich's single after smacking a two-bagger.

The Indians made their run after two were out in the last of the seventh. Jeff Heath singled and Ken Keltner doubled him home.

Four-Team Fight

A battle royal for the American league pennant brought the four foremost teams into a finish fight today.

The clubs lined up like this:

	W	L	Pct.	GB	TP
Detroit	77	57	.575		20
Cleveland	76	57	.571	½	21
New York	75	57	.568	1	22
Boston	72	62	.537	5	20

The fortunes of all four contenders were bound up in this week's schedule, which called for Cleveland to face the red hot Yankee in a two-game series today and tomorrow while the Detroit Tigers were defending their lair against the Red Sox. Then Thursday the world Champions were down to start a three-game series in Detroit while Boston opens a similar series against the Tribe.

There was a single game in the National league, too, the New York Giants battering the Brooklyn Dodgers 7-4. Hal Schumacher was cuffed for three runs in the first inning by the Dodgers, but then tightened to pitch seven scoreless innings while his mates pounded three Brooklyn pitchers for 14 hits and a victory.

McNeill Dethrones Riggs

Gambier Grad, Known Here, New National Tennis Champ.

Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, new national singles tennis champion, is shown above receiving the trophy from Dwight Davis. The scene is Forest Hills, N. Y., tennis courts. McNeill has acquaintances in Marion, having visited a few years ago at the C. C. Fisher home. He and Tom Sawyer of Hillsdale, Mich., grandson of C. C. Fisher, were both students at Kenyon college at Gambier at the time.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—Bobby Riggs was greater in defeat today than he ever was in victory.

The little fellow had just seen his most prized possession, the national singles tennis championship trophy, handed to Don McNeill of Oklahoma City.

All afternoon the gallery of 7,500 at Forest Hills had applauded wildly when Don came off with a fine shot and only mildly when Bobby did.

He hadn't been a popular champion and he knew it. So when the presentation ceremony was over, and Don was surrounded with back-slapping pats, Bobby walked through the gathering dusk way from the crowded press marquee, across the court on which he had been beaten, to a dressing room under the stands—and for the first time he was the popular kid he should be.

The crowd gave him a sincere burst of prolonged applause, partly because he had been beaten but more because they knew that in the past year of his reign he hadn't been treated as a champion should. And heart-sick as he was, he walked off in that Charley Chaplin manner of his with a big grin on his face.

McNeill should be a popular champion, for the forcing, dashing style of game he played yesterday in knocking Bobby off his throne, by scores of 4-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5, is bound to be more popuar than Riggs' purely defensive style.

Teamed with McNeill on the American tennis throne is another exponent of slam-bang tennis, blond Alice Marble of Los Angeles. Making good her bid for third straight national title—and the fourth in her brilliant career—she shelled Helen Hull Jacobs off the center court with a blazing 6-2, 6-3 beating.

Army's New Garand Rifle To Get Test.

By The Associated Press

CAMP PERRY, O., Sept. 10—The long range 30 caliber rifle championship of America was up for decision today at the national matches.

A total of 1498 of the country's top-flight marksmen entered a 20-shot, 1,000-yard event for the Wimbledon cup, placed in competition in 1875 by Princess Louise of England. The event, won a year ago by Private Alfred L. Wolters of the marines with a perfect score, is open to any rifle, but the majority of the field used the army Springfield.

Another test for the army's new Garand (M-1) semi-automatic rifle also was on today's program. A field of 1,465 entered the Scott trophy event, 20 shots rapid fire prone, at 300 yards with the Springfield bolt action rifle, while 1,012 competed in a 16-shot event over the same course with the new arm.

Marion Wrestling Fans Howl As David Overcomes Goliath

Little Gordon MacKenzie Upsets Huge Harry Kent in Scrap on Shovel Mat.

David whipped Goliath in last night's featured wrestling match at the Marion Steam Shovel gymnasium. David, or Gordon MacKenzie of Milwaukee, Wis., mowed the Goliath, Harry Kent of Portland, Ore., down to his own size and then proceeded to whip him to a standstill. A disgruntled pack of onlookers viewed the proceedings and voiced their disapproval of Referee George Woodlawn's attempts to prevent MacKenzie from using illegal holds.

Kent's only offensive attack of the evening netted him the first fall in 25 minutes. He pounded his foe into the canvas after MacKenzie persisted in working on him with a leg grip. Kent towered over his opponent and reminded spectators somewhat of the comic strip character, "Big Stoop." But instead of being invincible he turned out to be of the cream puff variety.

Falls in 5 Minutes

Kent lost the second fall in five minutes. He was downed repeatedly as MacKenzie threw body blocks, punches and an occasional boot into his left limb; which apperently had been hurt in the preceding fall. Kent also was the object of numerous kidney punches. He conceded the round. In the final Kent was tossed out of the ropes but continued to fight from beyond the strands.

He spilled, accidentally or not, Referee Woodlawn and it cost him the decisive fall. He had MacKenzie pinned in the cushion while the official was gathering himself up. But by the time Woodlawn got on the scene the situation was reversed with MacKenzie on top and he got credit for the fall and bout, much to the displeasure of a majority of the fans.

Miss Burke In Form

Miss Mildred Burke, the Kansas City, Mo., gal grappler, appeared well nigh invincible as she kept her slate of Marion victories intact by stopping Miss Wilma Gordon of Birmingham, Ala., in consecutive falls. Mildred took the first round in nine minutes. She finished on top by countering Wilma's try for an airplane spin. The second fall went only five minutes and the finish was a duplicate of the first.

Referee Woodlawn had his hands full with the feminine fighters. He experienced no little trouble when he tried to break up their hair-pulling barrages. On one occasion he landed beneath the pair and when he finally emerged was minus his shirt.

Bob Montgomery of Hot Springs, Ark. and Fred Carone of Italy pummeled each other to a draw in the 20-minute preliminary. Montgomery's rough stuff, for once, was returned on an "eye for an eye" basis by the rugged little warrior from the land of Mussolini.

FOOTBALL LEADERS TO MEET THURSDAY NIGHT

Sports officials and coaches of this section have been invited to attend a rules discussion meeting to be held Thursday night at the home of Francis W. Bacon at 136 Homer street. Mr. Bacon, well-known scholastic and collegiate arbiter, last year was appointed as an official of the National Professional Football league. Invitations have been sent to coaches and officials in this section and plans will be discussed to organize a permanent association in this section of Ohio.

KIRKPATRICK WINS TWO FROM CCC CAMP TEAM

The Kirkpatrick softball team swept both ends of a doubleheader from the Marion CCC club Sunday by scores of 3-2 and 2-1 at the Kirkpatrick ball diamond. Pitcher Barkley won his own ball game in the opener as he drove in the deciding run in the sixth frame with a triple. The ace right hander for Kirkpatrick tossed four-hit ball while his mates were touching Upchurch for six safeties.

Errors played an important part in the nightcap as Kirkpatrick edged the CCC boys with the help of the latters' three miscues in the field. Likens worked on the mound for the winners and gave up four base hits. Upchurch again did the chucking for the Marion team and pitched a four-hitter.

MARKET TRIES TO REGAIN HOLD

Mild Buying Support Appears for Steels, Motors and Aircrafts.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—A start toward regaining trading equilibrium was made in today's stock market as mild buying support appeared for selected steels, motors and aircrafts

While apprehension over the outcome of the battle of England still was evident in financial quarters, nervousness regarding war bulletins seemed to have waned a bit and more attention was paid to domestic business which most believed was on the upgrade.

Stocks up at one time or another were U. S Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Dow Chemical, and Woolworth.

Those with eyes on Washington derived some comfort from progress reported in congressional investigation of the national tax program. Revisions of the excess profits provisions of the measure by the senate finance committee were thought by commission house commentators to be a shift toward leniency.

In the matter of aircrafts, much interest was expressed in the statement of Defense Commission Chief Knudsen that plane manufacturers, exclusive of engine producers, are adding 12,000,000 square feet of floor space for the purpose of pushing operations on military machines to capacity.

Rails were dropped by estimates that in the face of expanding operations expenditures, net for class 1 carriers during 12 months ended Aug 1, was in the neighborhood of $182,000,00, topping any calendar year since 1930.

Morral Boy, 13, Wins Trapshoot Title at Toledo

Paul Swavel, 13-year-old Morral boy, captured the junior championship of the twelfth annual Ohio-Michigan trapshoot of the Toledo Blade, Sunday at the Maumee Bay Gun club, breaking 45 out of 50 birds

Observers called the score remarkable for "a youngster shooting a gun nearly as large as he is"

Paul has been shooting since December.

Indicative of the highness of the mark was the fact that the second place man, C L Bleckner of Toledo, had only 26

Fred Ford of Detroit won the senior title.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Allies in Germ War

The medical journals for the past two years have devoted their space largely to accounts of the action of sulfanilamide on various diseases. This new drug seems to answer the requirements for "the magic bullet" recently exploited on the movie screen—a drug which is deadly for germs, but does not harm the human tissues in which the germs are growing. We have had a number of these bullets for the protozoan diseases and specac for amoebic dysentery.

There seems to be no doubt now that in many infections it does do that magical thing—when absorbed into the blood, it kills or stops the action of infective living germs while doing no harm to the living blood cells or body cells in the midst of which the germs are growing.

The list of diseases in which the new drugs have been found useful is long. Most of them are due to the kind of germs known as cocci. A coccus is round sometimes they grow in chains as the streptococci, sometimes in clusters as the staphylocci; sometimes in pairs, as the pneumococci.

Sulfanilamide is very effective against streptococcal infections, even those hitherto considered fatal—such as blood-stream infections. In scarlet fever, which is probably due to a streptococcus, it works wonderfully.

Questions and Answers

Mrs R., St. Louis, Mo.—"Please write an article on disease of the tongue. I have had a stinging, burning sensation on my tongue for a year. I know it is the result of an old irritation."

Answer — Burning, stinging tongue is much more likely to be the result of derangements of the blood—anemia—or poor nutrition than local irritation. The use of liver, potatoes, whole wheat bread and fresh fruit helps, as well as attention to any bad teeth or sores in the mouth.

Reader—"What would you advise to use in an atomizer for a nasal spray for the relief of a catarrhal condition that often partly closes nostrils during sleep."

Answers—Neo-synephrin inhalant or 1 per cent ephedrine inhalant. Do not use a heavy oil, such as liquid petrolatum in a medicine dropper as this may get down in the lungs and cause trouble.

I GUESS IT'S FUNNY, ME READING A BOOK ON HOW TO DEVELOP A FORCEFUL PERSONALITY, ALL NIGHT, AND LOOKING AS IF I HAD NO PEP AT ALL, TODAY
IT'S FUNNY, ALL RIGHT
BUT, IT'S A GOOD BOOK AND I'M GOING TO DO WHAT IT SAYS
OKAY—NOW, ONE THING IT SAYS IS THAT YOU MUST WEAR CLOTHES THAT GIVE YOU A FEELING OF CONFIDENCE
OKAY
WE'RE GOING OUT RIGHT NOW AND PICK OUT SOME COME ON
SAY, JUST A MINUTE—IF I LET YOU LEAD ME AROUND LIKE THIS, I'M NOT BEING FORCEFUL—I'M BEING WEAK
